Research: Latino Neighborhoods Lack Access to Healthy Food

According to many health researchers, Latino neighborhoods tend to have more fast-food restaurants and snack vendors than supermarkets and farmers’ markets, meaning many Latino families do not have access to affordable foods needed for healthy diets. New research from Salud America!, a research network based at the Institute for Health Promotion Research, shows how healthy food financing initiatives can help address Latino childhood obesity.

http://www.uthscsa.edu/hscnews/singleformat.asp?newID=4519 http://www.bizjournals.com/sanantonio/blog/2013/06/latinos-lack-access-to-healthy-foods.html http://www.policylink.org/site/c.lkiXlbMNJrE/b.7634003/k.519E/Access_to_Healthy_Food.htm http://nowcastsa.com/blogs/research-highlights-lack-access-healthy-food-latino-neighborhoods http://ctlatinonews.com/blog/2013/06/27/many-latinos-lack-access-to-healthy-food/

“Of all the people on the planet, you talk to yourself more than anyone. Make sure you are saying the right things.”

-- Martin Rooney

Defining the EHR ... What are Electronic Health Records? Are They the Same as EMRs?

http://nnlm.gov/scr/blog/2013/06/12/ehr-part-one/http://www.healthit.gov/providers-professionals/learn-ehr-basics